

Want to own your land and protect it too?

Join us for a walk to learn why a Conservation Restriction might be perfect for you.

By selling or donating a Conservation Restriction on your property, you can continue to live on the land, leave it to your heirs, or even sell it to others, and the land will remain protected from development.

To learn more, join us for:

A Walk at Rattlesnake Hill and Philips Land

Sunday, August 4, 2019 • 1:00 to 3:00 p.m.
End of Old Sugar Road • Bolton, MA

Local experts will explain how Conservation Restrictions work and their long-term benefits:

- Betsy Taylor-Kennedy, former Board Member, Bolton Conservation Trust
- Christa Collins, Director of Land Protection, Sudbury Valley Trustees
- Kristin O'Brien, Land Steward, Sudbury Valley Trustees

The walk is open to residents of all towns. Bring water, bug spray, sun screen, and sturdy shoes in case of mud.

For More Information:

- Town of Bolton Conservation Commission website: www.townofbolton.com (look under Your Government...Conservation Commission).
- Contact Sara Amish, 978-443-5588, ext. 138, or SAmish@SVTweb.org

---

“A Walk at Rattlesnake Hill” is part of the “Managing and Protecting Our Farms, Forests, and Open Spaces” workshop series presented by Bolton Agricultural Commission, Bolton Conservation Commission, Bolton Conservation Trust, and Sudbury Valley Trustees.