① Trail Head with parking

Houghton Farm: This property is associated with a FOSPRD (Farming and Open Space Residential Development) area. Houses have been built on the lane at a steady rate over a number of years. It is named for members of the Houghton family, many of whom lived nearby. Their ancestors settled in Bolton in its earliest days during the late 17th century when it was still part of Lancaster. One of the most prominent was Joseph Houghton. In 1847 his land and cash donation to the Town enabled the construction of the Town’s first high school. The building is now the Houghton Building in the center of Town.

This is a pleasing area for a quiet stroll in the woods on rolling terrain with some points of interest along the way. The main trail forms a “lollypop” shape with a number of side trails leading to private land and property owned by the New England Power Company; please stay within the area shown on the map.

② Bridge near the Trailhead

The trails and bridge on this land were built as part of an Eagle Scout project in 2013 by a member of Troop 1.

Parking:

Houghton Farm Lane, on the shoulder next to the trailhead ① sign. 2 cars.
42.447013, -71.591709.

Connections: A short walk along Houghton Farm gravel sidewalk to Sugar Rd. leads to the Garrison House site and the nearby Old Town House Rd. (Map 4).

Suggested walks: All of the paths are worth a visit, and with a total mileage of 1.0 mile the whole area can be visited without too much effort in a fairly short time. The path to the east of the old cart track ① that runs up the middle of the main loop has some good views of the nearby rocky outcrops and the small brook that runs below them. These quiet paths break away from the cart track near a large boulder.
